AUDRE LORDE

Being, Challenging

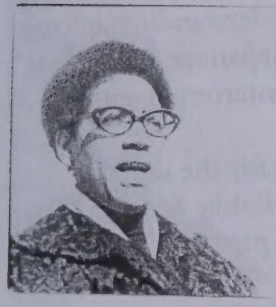
Born in Harlem to Caribbean immigrants, she was nearsighted to the point of being legally blind.

Dropped the "y" from her name while still a child. After graduating from Hunter College High School, left her parents' home and became estranged from her family.

In 1954, during a pivotal semester at the University of Mexico, affirms her as a lesbian and poet. Returns to Hunter College to graduate in 1959 with a degree in Library Science.

Earned Master's in Library Science from Columbia University in 1961. Married attorney Edwin Rollins and had two children, Elizabeth and Jonathan.



Lorde's poetry published regularly in several domestic and international literary magazines and anthologies, including Langston Hughes's 1962 New Negro Poets. Publishes her first volume of poetry, The First Cities in 1968.

Divorces her husband and publishes second book, Cables to Rage, penned primarily during her tenure as writer-in-residence at Tougaloo College in Mississippi, which addresses themes of love, sexuality, betrayal, childbirth and the complexities of raising children. While at Tougaloo, Lorde begins an affair with white psychology professor Frances Clayton, who remains her lover until 1989. She also has a brief affair with the sculptor and painter Mildred Thompson at this time.

Lorde writes and speaks unapologetically about how her class, race, age, gender and even health are inseverable from her identity as a womyn.

Publishes her defining work Zami: A New Spelling of My Name in 1982.

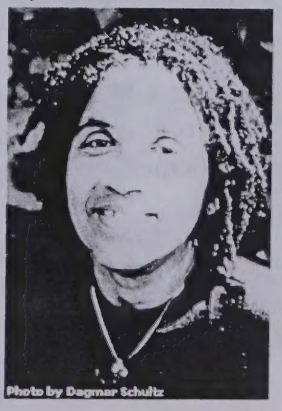
Her essay The Master's Tools Will Never Dismantle the Master's House, outrages many white feminists for its critique of feminism's underlying racism and unrecognized dependence on patriarchy. Another notable essay is her open letter to feminist Mary Daly. In these and other writings, she describes the interconnectedness of oppression, and urges activists of every stripe to "be on the edge of each other's battles."



Together with Barbara Smith and Cherrie Moraga, co-founded Kitchen Table: Women of Color Press, the first U.S. publisher created by womyn of color.

Lorde becomes New York State's Poet Laureate.

Becomes romantically involved with Gloria Joseph, her partner until death.
Lorde died on 17 November 1992, in St. Croix,
after a 14-year struggle with breast cancer.

BAYARD RUSTIN

Courage to Change

Born in West Chester, Pennsylvania. Raised as a Quaker.

Completed activist training of the American Friends Service Committee and moved to New York.

Organizer for the Young Communist League, which combated racial segregation and opposed America's involvement in World War II.

Worked for A. Philip Randolph, president premier black trade union, The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

Race Relations Secretary for FOR (Fellowship of Reconciliation), conducting Race Relations Institutes to facilitate understanding among racial groups; helped protect the property of Japanese-Americans imprisoned in internment camps .

A committed pacifist, Rustin refused to register for the draft or perform alternative service in Civilian Public Service. He served 3years in federal penitentiary.

Helped plan first "freedom ride" in the South. In North Carolina, Rustin served 22 days on a chain gang. His account of that experience, serialized in The New York Post, spurred investigations leading to the abolition of chain gangs there.

Openly gay and politically controversial Rustin was often relegated to a behind-the-scenes role. Arrested in on a "morals charge," he lost his job at the FOR, but was quickly offered another.

Assisted Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. in the early days of the Montgomery Bus Boycott. Deputy Director and Chief Organizer of the 1963 March on Washington.

Helped form R-T-P, Inc. (Recruitment and Training Program), increasing minority participation in building and construction trades.

As Vice Chairman of International Rescue Committee, he traveled the world working to secure food, medical care, education, and proper resettlement for refugees from Vietnam & Cambodia to Haiti.

During all of this, Rustin recorded three albums and performed in theatre of New York, becoming a life member of Actors' Equity.

By Walter Naegle
Bayard Rustin's partner from 1977 until Rustin's death in 1987; Executor & Archivist of the Bayard Rustin Estate.

AUDRE LORDE

Being, Challenging

1934

Born in Harlem to Caribbean immigrants, she was nearsighted to the point of being legally blind.

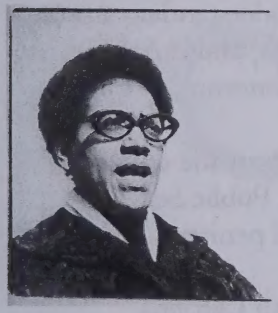
Dropped the "y" from her name while still a child. After graduating from Hunter College High School, left her parents' home and became estranged from her family.

1950s

In 1954, during a pivotal semester at the University of Mexico, affirms her as a lesbian and poet. Returns to Hunter College to graduate in 1959 with a degree in Library Science.

Earned Master's in Library Science from Columbia University in 1961. Married attorney Edwin Rollins and had two children, Elizabeth and Jonathan.

1960s



Lorde's poetry published regularly in several domestic and international literary magazines and anthologies, including Langston Hughes's 1962 New Negro Poets. Publishes her first volume of poetry, The First Cities in 1968.

Divorces her husband and publishes second book, Cables to Rage, penned primarily during her tenure as writer-in-residence at Tougaloo College in Mississippi, which addresses themes of love, sexuality, betrayal, childbirth and the complexities of raising children. While at Tougaloo, Lorde begins an affair with white psychology professor Frances Clayton, who remains her lover until 1989. She also has a brief affair with the sculptor and painter Mildred Thompson at this time.

1970s

Lorde writes and speaks unapologetically about how her class, race, age, gender and even health are inseverable from her identity as a womyn.

Publishes her defining work Zami: A New Spelling of My Name in 1982.

1980s

Her essay The Master's Tools Will Never Dismantle the Master's House, outrages many white feminists for its critique of feminism's underlying racism and unrecognized dependence on patriarchy. Another notable essay is her open letter to feminist Mary Daly. In these and other writings, she describes the interconnectedness of oppression, and urges activists of every stripe to "be on the edge of each other's battles."

Together with Barbara Smith and Cherrie Moraga, co-founded Kitchen Table: Women of Color Press, the first U.S. publisher created by womyn of color.

Lorde becomes New York State's Poet Laureate.

1992

Becomes romantically involved with Gloria Joseph, her partner until death.
Lorde died on 17 November 1992, in St. Croix,
after a 14-year struggle with breast cancer.

BAYARD RUSTIN

Courage to Change

Born in West Chester, Pennsylvania. Raised as a Quaker.

1912

Completed activist training of the American Friends Service Committee and moved to New York.

Organizer for the Young Communist League, which combated racial segregation and opposed America's involvement in World War II.

30s

Worked for A. Philip Randolph, president premier black trade union, The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

Race Relations Secretary for FOR (Fellowship of Reconciliation), conducting Race Relations Institutes to facilitate understanding among racial groups; helped protect the property of Japanese-Americans imprisoned in internment camps .

1940s

A committed pacifist, Rustin refused to register for the draft or perform alternative service in Civilian Public Service. He served 3years in federal penitentiary.

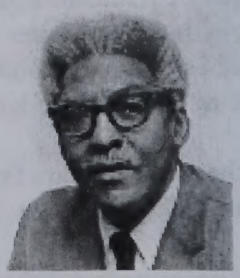
Helped plan first "freedom ride" in the South. In North Carolina, Rustin served 22 days on a chain gang. His account of that experience, serialized in The New York Post, spurred investigations leading to the abolition of chain gangs there.

50s

Openly gay and politically controversial Rustin was often relegated to a behind-the-scenes role. Arrested in on a "morals charge," he lost his job at the FOR, but was quickly offered another.

Assisted Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. in the early days of the Montgomery Bus Boycott. Deputy Director and Chief Organizer of the 1963 March on Washington.

Helped form R-T-P, Inc. (Recruitment and Training Program), increasing minority participation in building and construction trades.



1970s

As Vice Chairman of International Rescue Committee, he traveled the world working to secure food, medical care, education, and proper resettlement for refugees from Vietnam & Cambodia to Haiti.

During all of this, Rustin recorded three albums and performed in theatre of New York, becoming a life member of Actors' Equity.

By Walter Naegle
Bayard Rustin's partner from 1977 until Rustin's death in 1987; Executor & Archivist of the Bayard Rustin Estate.

AUDRE LORDE

Being, Challenging

1934

Born in Harlem to Caribbean immigrants, she was nearsighted to the point of being legally blind.

Dropped the "y" from her name while still a child. After graduating from Hunter College High School, left her parents' home and became estranged from her family.

1950s

In 1954, during a pivotal semester at the University of Mexico, affirms her as a lesbian and poet. Returns to Hunter College to graduate in 1959 with a degree in Library Science.

Earned Master's in Library Science from Columbia University in 1961. Married attorney Edwin Rollins and had two children, Elizabeth and Jonathan.

1960s

Lorde's poetry published regularly in several domestic and international literary magazines and anthologies, including Langston Hughes's 1962 New Negro Poets. Publishes her first volume of poetry, The First Cities in 1968.

Divorces her husband and publishes second book, Cables to Rage, penned primarily during her tenure as writer-in-residence at Tougaloo College in Mississippi, which addresses themes of love, sexuality, betrayal, childbirth and the complexities of raising children. While at Tougaloo, Lorde begins an affair with white psychology professor Frances Clayton, who remains her lover until 1989. She also has a brief affair with the sculptor and painter Mildred Thompson at this time.

1970s

Lorde writes and speaks unapologetically about how her class, race, age, gender and even health are inseverable from her identity as a womyn.

Publishes her defining work Zami: A New Spelling of My Name in 1982.

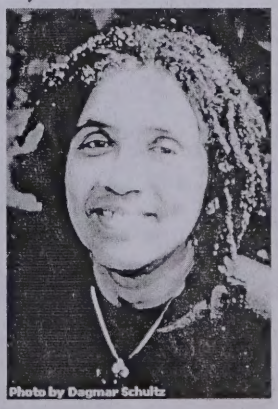
1980s

Her essay The Master's Tools Will Never Dismantle the Master's House, outrages many white feminists for its critique of feminism's underlying racism and unrecognized dependence on patriarchy. Another notable essay is her open letter to feminist Mary Daly. In these and other writings, she describes the interconnectedness of oppression, and urges activists of every stripe to "be on the edge of each other's battles."



Together with Barbara Smith and Cherrie Moraga, co-founded Kitchen Table: Women of Color Press, the first U.S. publisher created by womyn of color.

Lorde becomes New York State's Poet Laureate.

1990s

Becomes romantically involved with Gloria Joseph, her partner until death.

1992

Lorde died on 17 November 1992, in St. Croix, after a 14-year struggle with breast cancer.